The WVPHA proudly offers educational scholarships to further the cause of professional public health practice in West Virginia. Scholarship assistance is available to anyone demonstrating potential to fulfill the stated purpose of the WVPHA scholarship fund by:

- Pursuit of a graduate or undergraduate degree in a health related field at an accredited educational program, and
- Maintaining a “B” average or better in a graduate program, or a “C” average or better in an undergraduate program; or
- Pursuit of an approved certificate or course directly related to improvement of job skills or any approved continuing education program designed to enhance professional development or career mobility.

The full requirements of the WVPHA Scholarship Program, as well as the application form, are available on the Association web site: <http://www.wvdhhr.org/wvpha>

To apply for a scholarship, simply complete an application and submit to:
