

10.15 MEDICAID FOR DEEMED SSI RECIPIENTS (Categorically Needy, Mandatory)

NOTE: The spenddown provision does not apply.

Income eligibility is determined by SSA or the BMS Buy-In Unit for the following coverage groups: DAC, SGA, Essential Spouses, Pass-Throughs, Disabled Widows/Widowers and Drug Addicts/Alcoholics. See Section 16.6,B.

Only one Deemed SSI Recipient coverage group requires income calculations. Those eligible for PICKLE AMENDMENT COVERAGE (PAC) are addressed in this Section.

A. BUDGETING METHOD

The only two times the budgeting methods in Section 10.6,B are used is in:

- Item C,1, Step 3.
- Item C,2, Step 3.

In other steps of the process, the Worker uses the actual RSDI amounts.

B. INCOME DISREGARDS AND DEDUCTIONS

See Section 10.22,B for SSI disregards and deductions which are used for this coverage group.

C. DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY

There are two methods by which income eligibility as a PAC may be determined. Method 1 offers a shorter, simpler method, but, if its use results in ineligibility by $20 or less, the Worker must use the more exact Method 2.

1. Method 1

Step 1: Determine the last month and year in which the client received SSI and RSDI concurrently, i.e., at the same time.

NOTE: The individual who received SSI and was found retroactively eligible for RSDI is considered to have received SSI and RSDI concurrently. RSDI payments are received the month following the month of entitlement.

EXAMPLE: The RSDI entitlement for December is received in January.

Income

- Step 2: Using Appendix E, find the percentage that applies to that year and multiply the current RSDI amount for the client and/or his financially-responsible parent or spouse by that percentage Drop any cents.
- Step 3: Add any other current countable income.
- Step 4: Apply the disregards and deductions from item B above. If the remaining amount is less than the current SSI maximum payment, the client is income eligible.

EXAMPLE: Mr. Doe received RSDI/SSI for several years until his SSI stopped in December, 1989. His current RSDI amount is $701. Using the 1989 multiplier found in Appendix E,  $$701 \times .654 = $458$ , which is less than the current SSI payment rate of $564. Mr. Doe has no other income. He is income eligible as a PAC.

EXAMPLE: Ms. A, age 55 and single, has assets of less than $2,000. She receives RSDI of $800 a month in 2004. In order to qualify for SSI-Related Medicaid, she must meet a spenddown. She first applied for RSDI and SSI in October 1985. She was approved for SSI and was paid SSI for October 1985 through December 1986. She received her first RSDI check in December 1986 which resulted in the loss of SSI payments in December 1986. In 2004, the Worker screens Ms. A for PAC. Her RSDI benefit of $800 is multiplied by .596, the amount for 1986 found in Appendix E for Method 1. Her countable RSDI income for PAC is $476, which is less than the current SSI amount of $564, and she qualifies for PAC.

EXAMPLE: In 2004, Mrs. B lives with her husband, Sam B. He is 75 years old and receives RSDI of $575. He never received SSI. Mrs. B is 70 years old and receives $450 RSDI. The couple's total combined monthly income is $1025, which exceeds the current SSI amount of $846 for a couple, even after the $20 disregard. Mrs. B received both RSDI and SSI until she married Sam in 1991. Her SSI was terminated after the marriage due to excessive income for a couple. To determine potential PAC eligibility, the combined RSDI income of $1025 is multiplied by .722, the amount for 1991 found in Appendix E for Method 1. Their combined countable RSDI amount is $740, which is less than the current SSI amount for a couple of $846. Mrs. B qualifies for PAC coverage. Her husband is not PAC eligible because he did not receive SSI.

NOTE: If the client is ineligible by $20 or less, Method 2 must be used as the final eligibility determination.

2. Method 2

To determine an individual's financial eligibility under Method 2, the Worker must first determine the cumulative RSDI COLA's of the applicant and/or his financially-responsible parent or spouse, which were received since SSI eligibility was lost.

Step 1: Divide the current RSDI benefit amount by the percentage amount of the previous year's COLA. This percentage is found in Appendix E. This procedure determines the individual's RSDI benefit level prior to the most recent COLA.

Step 2: Repeat the process in Step 1 for each COLA received since the individual lost SSI eligibility. This produces the RSDI amount the client and/or his financially-responsible parent or spouse received when he lost SSI eligibility.

The following is an example of this process.

1992 RSDI amount,  $$456 \div 1.037 = $439$ , RSDI amount prior to 1/92 COLA

RSDI amount before 1/92 COLA  $\div 1.054 = $416$ , RSDI amount before 1/91 COLA

RSDI amount before 1/91 COLA  $\div 1.047 = $397$ , RSDI amount before 1/90 COLA

Step 3: Determine the client's current non-excluded income.

Step 4: Apply appropriate disregards and deductions to the income determined in Steps 2 and 3.

Step 5: If countable income is less than the current maximum SSI payment amount, and all other SSI requirements are met, the client is eligible for Medicaid under PAC.
