

WVBTT Documents and Electronic Signatures

Digital Signature & Electronic Signature

Digital Signature

A digital signature is an electronic fingerprint which encrypts and identifies the individual who is using this format. For example a signing program, such as Adobe PDF or DocuSign, provides families and team members with an encrypted, certificate based digital ID which represents a high-level of security for parties involved. When you use this type of signature, items are secure and cannot be altered at a later time unless by the author. A digital signature is legal and binding on documents. Check with your provider agency or visit the internet for options that may be available to you.

Electronic Signature

An electronic signature is an image of your signature added to a document using a stylus or signature capture application. Your device should meet requirements to use this type of signature format. Check with your provider agency or visit the internet for options that may be available to you.

FOLLOW THIS LINK TO LEARN
"HOW TO CREATE an ELECTRONIC SIGNATURE"

Disclaimer: The information noted above is to provide you with a guideline to add or collect signatures that you will need for your BTT documentation. Devices vary and you must research to find what will work best for you.