The ubiquitous nature of technology has prompted development of tools and resources that make it easier than ever to access and implement a wide range of communication tools, from paper-based to technology-based, to support both receptive and expressive language development and foster high-quality interactions between children and their caregivers. This session will unpack the term “AAC system” and explore the continuum of unaided and aided AAC tools from no-tech to paper-based to technology-based. It will include explanations of key features and discuss considerations for vocabulary selection and organization in the context of supporting language development. Access modalities such as eye-gaze and partner-assisted scanning will be explained and resources for accessing these tools (low and high-tech) will be shared. Accessible design features that foster interest, motor access, and use of AAC across environments will also be explored. This session is the second in a 3-part series to inform practitioners of the characteristics of AAC tools and strategies that support the natural language development process, expand understanding about the flexible nature of AAC as a “tool for many”, and inspire appreciation of the discovery of a child’s authentic voice through AAC. Participants will:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Child Growth & Development • Family & Community Relationships • Child Observation & Assessment • Environment & Curriculum TIER – Basic
