Human Trafficking: What Is It?

- Human trafficking is a form of modern-day slavery
- Victims of trafficking exploited for commercial sex or labor purposes
- Traffickers use force, fraud or coercion to achieve exploitation

After drug dealing, human trafficking is tied with the illegal arms trade as the second largest criminal industry in the world, and it is the fastest growing.

Human Trafficking: What Is It?

Sex Trafficking: Commercial sex act induced by force, fraud or coercion, or in which person performing the act is under age 18.

- Victims can be found working in massage parlors, brothels, strip clubs, escort services

Labor Trafficking: Using force, fraud or coercion to recruit, harbor, transport, obtain or employ a person for labor or services in involuntary servitude, peonage, debt bondage or slavery

- Victims can be found in domestic situations as nannies or maids, sweatshop factories, janitorial jobs, construction sites, farm work, restaurants, panhandling

Crime of trafficking occurs with the exploitation of the victim.

The physical movement of the victim is not a requisite.

The TVPA protects both U.S. citizens and non-citizens.

Human Trafficking: How Are Victims Trafficked?

- Force, fraud and coercion are methods used by traffickers to press victims into lives of servitude, abuse
 - Force: Rape, beatings, constraint, confinement
 - Fraud: Includes false and deceptive offers of employment, marriage, better life
 - Coercion: Threats of serious harm to, or physical restraint of, any person; any scheme, plan or pattern intended to cause victims to believe that failure to perform an act would result in restraint against them; or the abuse or threatened abuse of the legal process.

Human Trafficking: Who Are Victims?

- Approximately 800,000 to 900,000 victims annually trafficked across international borders worldwide
- Between 18,000 and 20,000 victims trafficked into United States annually.
- More than half of victims trafficked into United States are thought to be children; victims are probably about equally women and men.
- Victims can be trafficked into the U.S. from anywhere in the world. Victims have come from, among other places, Africa, Asia, India, Eastern Europe, Latin America, Russia, and Canada.
- Within the U.S., both citizens and non-citizens fall prey to traffickers.

Human Trafficking: Who Are Victims?

- Many victims in the U.S. do not speak English and are unable to communicate with service providers, police, or others who might be able to help them.
- Often kept isolated and activities restricted to prevent them from seeking help
- Typically watched, escorted or guarded by traffickers or associates of traffickers
- Traffickers may “coach” victims to answer questions with cover story about being wife, student or tourist
- Victims comply and don’t seek help because of fear

Trafficking Victims: Understanding Mindset

Frequently victims:

- Do not speak English and are unfamiliar with U.S. culture
- Confined to room or small space to work, eat, sleep
- Fear, distrust health providers, government, police
 - Fear of being deported
- Unaware what is being done to them is a crime
 - Do not consider themselves victims
 - Blame themselves for their situations
- May develop loyalties, positive feelings toward trafficker as coping mechanism
 - May try to protect trafficker from authorities
- Sometimes victims do not know where they are, because traffickers frequently move them to escape detection
- Fear for safety of family in home country

Identifying Victims of Human Trafficking

- Social service providers play important role identifying and helping trafficking victims
- While trafficking is largely hidden social problem, victims are in plain sight if you know what to look for
- Very few places where someone from outside has opportunity to interact with victim

Identifying Victims of Human Trafficking

- Is potential victim accompanied by another person who seems controlling?
- Does person accompanying potential victim insist on giving information to you?
- Can you see or detect any physical abuse?
- Does potential victim seem submissive or fearful?
- Does potential victim have difficulty communicating because of language or cultural barriers?
- Does potential victim have any identification?

Communicating with Victims of Human Trafficking

- Before talking to potential trafficking victim, isolate individual from person accompanying her/him without raising suspicions
 - Individual accompanying person may be trafficker posing as spouse, other family member or employer
 - Say that it is your policy to speak to person alone
- Enlist trusted translator/interpreter who also understands victim's cultural needs
 - If person is child, important to enlist help of specialist skilled in interviewing child trafficking or abuse victims

Communicating with Victims of Human Trafficking

- For victim's safety, strict confidentiality is paramount
 - Talk to victims in safe, confidential and trusting environment
 - Limit number of staff members coming in contact with suspected trafficking victim
- Importance of indirectly and sensitively probing to determine if person is trafficking victim
 - May deny being trafficking victim, so best not to ask direct questions
 - Phrase "trafficking victim" will have no meaning

Communicating with Victims of Human Trafficking: Questions

- Can you leave your work or job situation if you want?
- When you are not working, can you come and go as you please?
- Have you been threatened with harm if you try to quit?
- Has anyone threatened your family?
- What are your working or living conditions like?
- Where do you sleep and eat?
- Do you have to ask permission to eat, sleep or go to the bathroom?
- Is there a lock on your door or windows so you cannot get out?

Communicating with Victims of Human Trafficking: Messages

- Gaining victim's trust important first step in providing assistance
- Sample messages to convey:
 - We are here to help you.
 - Our first priority is your safety.
 - If you are a victim of trafficking and you cooperate, you will not be deported.
 - We will give you the social services that you need.
 - We can find you a safe place to stay.
 - We can help get you what you need.
 - We want to make sure what happened to you doesn't happen to anyone else.
 - You are entitled to assistance. We can help you get assistance.
 - If you are a victim of trafficking, you can receive help to rebuild your life safely in this country.

Victims of Trafficking and Their Needs

There are four general areas of victim needs:

- Immediate assistance
 - Housing, food, medical, safety and security, language interpretation and legal services
