SPLAT ART FIREWORKS PAINTING

Material List

- Construction Paper- black and white
- Tempera Paints- glittery red, glittery blue and white
- Pompoms- different sizes
- Bath Sponges- small

Instructions

Dip the pompoms and bath sponges in the various paints. Then drop them onto the construction paper and watch the paint splat!

As you paint with your child talk about the different patterns that the materials made. This is a great activity to do outside.

Helping Your Child Grow and Thrive

In February 2022 the developmental milestone checklists for children were updated for the first time in nearly 20 years. Along with the updates, new screening checklists were developed for young children at 15 and 30 months of age. The reason for the update was to look at the ages for when most children (75%) would be expected to achieve developmental milestones. While it is important to remember that all children develop at their own pace, one of the key factors in identifying concerns with a child is your knowledge of your child and their ability to participate in the life of your family.

You may have questions about what these changes may mean for you and the conversations you are having with your child's physician. The resources below will provide you links to valuable materials to review to help you to understand your child's development and assist in those conversations. As a result, you and your child's physician will have a better way of responding to developmental concerns, including earlier identification of autism and other social-communication concerns. That also means earlier connections to services and supports like WV Birth to Three to help you help your child.

If you are concerned about your child's development, talk to your child's doctor. They can assist you in looking at any medical concerns that need looked at and can help connect you to programs like WV Birth to Three to help support you and your child.
